Keynote Speakers

susie larson

Susie Larson is a national speaker, radio host, and author of ten books and many articles. Susie connects daily with her listeners on her two-hour live talk show, 'Live the Promise with Susie Larson'. Susie has a passion to see women everywhere awaken to their precious worth and their powerful call in Christ Jesus that they might enjoy a healed soul and might make a profound impact on a world so desperately in need. Susie has been married to her dear husband Kevin since 1985 and together they have three wonderful sons, three beautiful daughters-in-law, and one adorable pit bull named Memphis.

ann voskamp

Ann Voskamp is the author of the million-copy New York Times bestseller, One Thousand Gifts: A Dare to Live Fully Right Where You Are, the wife of one good farmer, and the home-educating mama of seven exuberant kids. Named by Christianity Today as one of 50 women most shaping culture and the church today, and a partner with Compassion International as a global advocate for needy children, Ann's a regular loser of library books, usually has a sink full of soaking pots, sees empty laundry baskets rarer than a blue moon, and believes that the sky and fresh mercy over the farm is large and all is grace.

*Jesus said,
"Because I live, you also will live."*

Workshops

Imperfectionist in Training

Jen Burmeister & Kimber Sullivan

The image of a perfect life, perfect relationships, a perfect self... it is all too alluring, but God has something more for us. As recovering perfectionists, we invite you to experience the freedom we find as God reveals the truth about the lie of perfect. Listen in as we share health struggles, relationship expectations, goals achieved and failed...and the surprise twist of twin motherhood in both of our lives as a centerpiece for God's grace. Come and discover "imperfectionism" as a key to the gospel and our desperate need for a Savior, our only hope of true perfection.

The Power of Story

Dodie Davis

Learning to craft and tell an "unforgettable" story brings rewarding results. Jesus often used stories to teach truth. Story is an effective tool in every area of life—the home, evangelism, church ministry, missions and the business world. We are all storytellers. We only need to learn some simple steps for creating "unforgettable" stories. In this workshop you will learn these steps, and have a chance to practice developing an "unforgettable" story.

Talking to Your Kids about Sex & Sexuality

Jennifer Dougan

Whether our kids are toddlers, elementary-age, high school or college, it's vital to offer Christian perspectives and to have healthy, honest conversations about our bodies, gender, sexuality, marriage and purity. Much more than an awkward "birds and bees" discussion, healthy sexuality is a natural series of conversations over the years. Walk away with practical "What to say When" guides, based on God's word, psychological research, and Jennifer Dougan's 20+ years of youth and church ministry.

Discipline that Connects

Jim & Lynne Jackson

Disciplining children well is tougher in today's world than ever. When parents are not thoughtful, any myriad of troubles can grow. "Discipline that Connects" is a profound and practical way to think about discipline that has empowered thousands of parents to be wiser and more effective when they discipline. This workshop is filled with practical examples and skits, is deeply biblical, immediately useful, and will change your life and your child's life for good!

Because He Lives! Worship Through Hymns

Tammie Junkans

Celebrate the abundant life Jesus gives by singing His story. We will spend an hour worshiping God through hymns old and new, including the opportunity to request your favorites. Reflecting on God's promises and blessings in the hymns we know and love will be uplifting and renewing. "Glorify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together!" (Psalm 34:3 NIV)

Your Marriage From Good to Great!

George & Joan Kenworthy

In this workshop, we will explore in detail Paul's relationship advice recorded in Ephesians 4:25-32. In addition, George and Joan will share practical advice about what has worked and not worked in their marriage. Those who attend the workshop will leave with a contract to help resolve conflict. Attendees will receive biblical and practical advice on how to communicate more effectively, how to avoid emotional escalation, how to avoid taking a swing at our spouse, and how we can learn to forgive like Jesus!

Living a Better Story

Melissa Larson

As a wife, mother, and teacher, I am continually challenged with what it means to live an authentic life in Christ. I believe it begins with humility, seeking the heart of God and choosing to live out all that He calls us to be. It involves understanding our personal story and surrendering those experiences to be used for God's redemptive purposes. If your desire is to live out your calling with great effectiveness as you reflect the love of Jesus to a seeking world, this workshop is for you! Based on John 14:19b and Psalm 62:1-2.

Empowered by the Holy Spirit

Satise Roddy

God has purposed us to do great things for His glory and He never meant for us to do it alone. We must realize we cannot do the work of God without the power of God. Our desire should be to experience the fullness of His power being aware of the presence and purpose of the Holy Spirit within our hearts. The best gift our hearts can receive is the gift promised by the Lord to His children—the gift of the Holy Spirit. He has graced us with what we need. Scripture reference, John 14:15-18.

Clutter Free Simplicity

Angie Ryg

With four children, Angie's life has often been one of chaos, but through planning, practical ideas, and focusing on God's promises, Angie found how to create clutter-free simplicity in her heart and home. Because God lives, we have the power to create change in our lives in order to fulfill the purpose God has chosen for us. Through proven de-cluttering techniques, we can reclaim our homes and replace chaos and discontentment with a life of clutter free-simplicity!

Debunking the Cliché, "God won't give you more than you can handle."

Cathy Solomon

Have you ever experienced being overwhelmed by life's circumstances? Our struggles can be exacerbated with self-shame and frustration at God when things get beyond our control. The well-intended cliché "God won't give you more than you can handle," is a misinterpretation of Bible verses. This workshop will look at what is behind this common saying, provide hope of God's presence amidst struggles, and equip us with helpful words to share with those experiencing tough times.

A Confident Heart

Susan VanDenHeubel

The Bible teaches us in Phil. 3:3, "...have no confidence in the flesh." As Daughters of the King, we want to put our confidence in Christ, not ourselves or anything on this side of heaven. When we truly understand who we are in Him, we gain confidence. He says we are the righteousness of Christ, that we are highly loved, been chosen, forgiven, and redeemed. He says we have incredible value and worth in Him. Every woman's heart needs to hear these truths!

Featured Workshop Speakers

jo saxton

Jo is a fiery leader who inspires and equips men and women for discipleship all over the world. Her heartbeat is to see the local church unleashed through its people. Jo is the author of three books including More than Enchanting, which explores the subject of women in leadership. Jo is also the co-host of Lead Stories podcast. Originally from the United Kingdom, Jo lives with her husband and two daughters in the Minneapolis area.

BECAUSE HE LIVES: I AM REDEEMED Jesus Christ makes a difference in terms of the redeeming and transforming of our lives. His redemption is both an event (cross and resurrection) and a journey (changed from glory to glory.) Because we have a God who is the same yesterday, today and forever, we can expect and invite Him to keep on redeeming the broken pieces of our lives.

River jordan

River Jordan shares her incredible journey of a year of "Praying for Strangers." For a full year, River kept a resolution to pray for a different stranger every day. While her sons were both deployed to war zones, River focused daily on complete strangers instead of the concerns of her own heart. When not traveling the back roads of America, River lives with her husband and their Great Pyrenees lap dog, Titan, in Nashville, Tennessee.

EMBRACING DIVINE ENCOUNTERS With humor and compassion River Jordan shares stories from her best-selling book, Praying for Strangers, and illuminates the incredible ways that God uses our everyday moments to reach people in extraordinary ways.

Additional workshops may be added to the schedule. Workshop schedules and speakers are subject to change. All views of the Keynote Speakers and workshop presenters do not necessarily represent the views of the University of Northwestern – St. Paul.
